UBC COVID-19 Response Programs

In response to the current pandemic, University Baptist Church has expanded its benevolence program to provide financial assistance to those affected by COVID-19. If you are living in the Austin area and have lost income or face unexpected expenses because of the pandemic, we invite you to request assistance with rent, utilities, medical bills, and similar expenses. We can provide up to $500 per applicant. Payments will be made directly to your landlord, utility company, or other creditor.

To apply, please email the following information to benevolence@ubcaustin.org

1. Your name and contact information
2. A brief statement about your need
3. The amount of assistance you are requesting
4. A copy of the bill or lease showing the name and address where the bill should be paid

Requests will be evaluated confidentially by the UBC COVID-19 Response Team. If you know someone in need, we encourage you to forward this information to them. For more information, visit <https://bit.ly/2Tu2c5y> (link is case sensitive.)

If you are able, please consider donating to the UBC Benevolence Fund so we can continue helping others. You can mail a check to the church or donate online at ubcaustin.org/donate. Be sure to specify that your contribution is for the Benevolence Fund.

The COVID-19 Response Team is led by Ron Cockroft and includes Beverly Gavenda and Larry Deuser, with Rev. Amelia Fulbright and Paul Taylor.

Victims of COVID-19

The ministry staff of UBC is collecting the names of those in our membership and close to our members who either are sick with COVID-19 or who have died from this disease. This is in addition to our usual call for prayer requests.

As we receive these names, each one will be written on a small slip of paper and placed in a vessel with other names, as a way to contain our grief and to hold space for each of these beloved children of God in the weeks ahead. We have a vase for the names of those who are sick and a basket for the names of the deceased.

Please send us the names of anyone you would like us to include, we will add them, and we will pray for them in the weeks ahead. You can email us at staff@ubcaustin.org.
